Developing People Into The Leaders Needed To WIN

KEVIN ORSINI

Kevin learned early on that coaching was about creating meaningful relationships and demonstrating to others with your own works and words what it means to be a leader and role model to young people.

Kevin took this experience with him when he enlisted in the United States Army, where he worked as a Communications Specialist for almost 10 years. The military taught him even more about leadership and helped him differentiate the good leaders from individuals who were just "in charge".

Kevin is currently working towards obtaining a Master's in Teaching from Liberty University (VA) and is currently a Physical Education and Health teacher within the FCPS school system. Kevin received his undergraduate degree from Shepherd University (WV).

Now, Kevin lives with his wife of 12 years and has 3 kids aged 10, 7, and 1 in New Market, Maryland, and coaches his daughters' softball teams.

TESTIMONIALS

“Coach Orsini wasn’t just a football coach to me. He was a mentor, a leader, and a constant example of what it means to be a man of integrity, passion, and heart.”

Oscar Murcia - Tuscarora High School - Class of 2025

“Having worked with Coach Orsini for the past four years, I can attest to his consistent emphasis on character and his ability to build strong, positive relationships with student-athletes and fellow coaches.”

Dominic Frampton - Physical/Health Education Oakdale Middle School

“Kevin is straight-forward, very organized and I believe, is truly driven by helping those he supports be their best selves! He is a TRANSFORMATIONAL coach and educator.”

Curtiss Belcher Jr. - Brunswick HS Distance Learning Lab Mentor

“Kevin strikes the rare balance of strong leadership and genuine love. His steady, faith-driven leadership is an example to those around him, and I’m grateful to call him a friend.”
